Midd's 147th Year Opens With Record Enrollment

Mark Set in 1941 Exceeded by 361 As 1174 Register

Officially opening the 147th academic ear of Middlebury College history, resident Samuel S. Stratton addressed total of 1,174 students in Mead Chapel n Thursday, September 26.

Record Enrollment

President Stratton pointed out that this nrollment, of which 632 are men and 4 are graduate students, is the largest er to enter the college, exceeding the rmer record of 1941 by 361. Of the mber of men, 84 percent are veterans, any of whom are returning to Midd r the second time. The president also ferred to the crowded conditions of colges all over the country where students ust suffer the inconveniences of overaded dining rooms, dormitories, and assrooms. Middlebury is much more rtunate than many larger universities hich are housing from 33,000 to 37,000 udents, the president added.

College Values

President Stratton stressed the fact at Middlebury undergraduates, despite ll difficulties, can still achieve during eir four years certain values, among hich is the development of "deep and biding loyalties." These values, necesary for intellectual growth and maturity, emain a plentiful and available commodty of this campus and their worth should ot be underestimated. The President ncluded his message with a hope that ollege life will begin in a spirit of "high dventure" in which may be found "a full easure of joy and happiness, and lasting atisfaction."

Freshman Week

This address highlighted the traditional reshman Week activities which began n Monday, September 23, for the 241 en and 88 women matriculating at Midlebury this term.

"Willie Gillis" returns to Middlebury College in Norman Rockwell's painting ppearing on the cover of the October 5 ssue of Saturday Evening Post.

The top portion of Old Chapel is framed in the window where the veteran s seated. Mr. Rockwell chose the steeple f Old Chapel for his painting but the indow sill where "Willie" is seated is ot a building on this campus but a dormitory of the Burr and Burton Seminary, Manchester.

The veteran in the painting is actually Robert Otis Buck, a recently discharged Navy veteran of West Rupert. The cover painting was reproduced in the September 30 issue of the News Letter by special permission of the Saturday Evening Post.

2 Musical Groups From Middlebury To Give Concerts

Alan Carter, assistant professor of music, has announced that this year the college will have two orchestras instead of one and that several concerts will be given jointly with other colleges.

Plans for the regular Middlebury orchestra and for a small chamber music group are being completed. The regular orchestra will prepare one or two programs to be presented during the year for college enjoyment. Emphasis will be placed on reading music when the college musicians meet once a week for rehearsals.

Smaller Chamber Music Group

The smaller chamber music group will comprise the best players and this organization will present four or five college concerts during the year. Members of this group will play with the Vermont State Symphony orchestra.

Arrangements are being made for a joint concert in which the Middlebury musicians will unite with those from Harvard and Radcliffe to present an orchestral entertainment. This program will be given at Middlebury. Also on the orchestra's schedule are plans for another joint concert to be given at Cambridge.

As before the war the smaller chamber orchestra will travel to communities in the vicinity of Middlebury to play for those who would otherwise be unable to hear orchestral music.

Reactivation

"This year there will be a reactivation of the college band," said Mr. Carter, placing emphasis on the word, "reactivation." "In continuing a measure instituted during the war emergency, Middlebury women as well as men are welcome to play in this organization."

Mr. George Low, supervisor of music in the Rutland schools, will assist in the training of the band. Members of the band will travel with the team. They will be ready to play on Saturday, October 12, which will be Middlebury's Alumni Homecoming Day.

Midd Skiing Shown At Campus Theatre

"Feminine Class," the Grantland Rice "Sportlights" featuring skiing shots of the Women's College of Middlebury, will be shown at the Campus Theatre, October 11 and 12.

Last January Middlebury women joined the ranks of the Hollywood stars when "The Eyes and the Ears of the World" turned to the Midd campus. Rus Erwin and Rod Warren, photographers representing the "Sportlights" feature of Paramount News, journeyed to Middlebury and took many scenes of the Women's college on campus and at Breadloaf. Various shots were taken of students leaving chapel and also skiing on chapel hill. Then the set shifts to Breadloaf where the women's ski team was photographed doing practice runs on the downhill course.

In the months following the photographing of the Middlebury women, action shots were taken of women at Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., in their feature sport of horseback riding; at Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass., of crew; and at U.C.L.A., Los Angeles, Calif., of swimming. These three college sport features were combined with the Middlebury skiing feature to form the Grantland Rice "Sportlights" titled, "Feminine Class."

Fund Honoring War Veterans To Open Oct. 12

Gifford Breakfast Begins Campaign

During an interview in the Middlebury Memorial Fund Office Mr. Edgar J. Wiley '13, and Mr. Stanley V. Wright '18, announced the opening on October 12, of the fund campaign, which will officially begin at a breakfast attended by volunteer workers in Gifford Commons on Saturday, October 12.

The Fund Committee is led by Honorary National Chairman John M. Thomas '90, Honorary National Co-chairman Eleanor S. Ross '95, National Chairman Joseph P. Kasper '20, Treasurer Robert D. Hope '11, Campaign Director Edgar J. Wiley '13, and Associate Campaign Director Stanley V. Wright '18. The two national committees on whom fall the task of managing the campaign are the general committee and the executive committee.

Extensive Publicity

A long and comprehensive mailing list has been carefully made out for the purpose of distributing the literature designed by Carl Brautigam. There are several attractive pamphlets in the series, each designed to convey a different message.

It was explained that there will be a ratio of approximately one volunteer worker to every five alumni and potential donors. State and area chairmen have been appointed according to the number of Middlebury people in the area.

News of the progress of the campaign will be supplied chiefly by means of a giant replica of Gamaliel Painter's Cane which will be set up on the campus to act as a barometer.

Fred Williams '47, co-Chairman of the campus committee, stated when questioned, that he hopes for and confidently

Homecoming Day Planned Oct. 12 For Graduates

A. Ronni McKenney '48

October 12 will mark the revival of Middlebury's Alumni Homecoming day which has not been held since 1942; the first of these annual reunions took place on November 17, 1928.

Previous Homecomings

This year approximately 500 people are expected to return for the campus reunion, which is to start the campaign to raise $700,000 for an indoor field to be erected in memory of the college's men and women who served in World War II. In previous years Homecoming Day was planned as a reunion only. The student body took part by giving tea dances at the fraternity houses and a Saturday night dance. The alumni were greeted by welcome signs which decorated the various college buildings. This congenial air of the students towards the returning alumni became so great that a silver cup was awarded to the fraternity with the best decorations based on the Homecoming motif.

In past years Homecoming day was held in November on the day of the last home football game, either with U.V.M. or Norwich. A suggestion was later made that October would be a far better month, as the fall foliage would then be at its loveliest. A Trinity-Middlebury football game will be played this year and a short rally held between the halves to open the campaign.

Returning Alumni

Alumni from all parts of the country are expected to return this month. Area chairmen are coming from such places as California, Virginia, and Ohio. A Saturday morning breakfast will be served in Gifford Hall for the Fund Committee and the Alumni Council, and an 8.00 p.m. banquet will be given for the Alumni Council in the same dormitory.

It is hoped that the student body will welcome the returning alumni wholeheartedly so that they too will remember the days when they were undergrads at Middlebury College.

Choirs to Alternate In Chapel Services

Because of the new arrangements which require students to attend Chapel on alterniate week-days and Sundays, the Middlebury choir will be divided into two groups this year so that the members also sing in Chapel on alternate days.

The size of the choir will be doubled and more students will have an opportunity to participate. Choir rehearsal continues to be held once a week, both groups rehearsing together under the direction of H. W. Bedford, Associate Professor of Music. There will be no distinction in the quality of the two groups. Middlebury's choir will present the traditional Christmas program and next spring will plan to give Bach's Mass in B minor.

The Women's Chorus, which has lately been a campus activity, will this year become the Freshmen Chorus, a group for mixed voices. This mixed chorus will, however, be open to all freshmen and upperclassmen who are interested and who wish to participate. Tryouts will not be necessary for membership in this organization and weekly meetings will begin soon. Chorus members may be asked to participate in the Christmas presentation of the Middlebury choir.

It's Your Campus . . .

It is traditional for this column to expound at length on tradition at this time and it is becoming more traditional for a larger number of students to rebel against tradition as each new year starts. We feel that new students, having been welcomed in many ways, are now at the stage where they can only acquire for themselves, or refuse to acquire, what they have heard called the "Middlebury spirit." Old students and returned men have already made their choice of feeling. There is, therefore, no particular advantage in this column's attempting to put in words sentiments for or against walls of ivy, chapel bells, and the countless other tangibles and intangibles that are known as the Middlebury tradition.

During the war years the college went through many changes, always repeating, "Wait till the war's over and Middlebury becomes again what it once was." Now that the time for such a return has come, we have found that this year has already brought more changes than the war years did. And this is not a situation unique to Middlebury. Many students are disappointed. This is to be expected. Everyone, including the professors, would like smaller classes, more room to spread out, smaller crowds in the movies. With the enrollment what it is, however, we can do nothing but put up with the conditions as we find them. They are a cold hard fact that we are forced to accept. We will have a better year if we keep our criticisms of it to ourselves.

Introductions at Middlebury will not be completed until all the members of the college feel at home and have a seeing acquaintance with everyone else. With this issue many are meeting the CAMPUS for the first time. We make no apologies, for we know it is not perfect. We welcome your criticisms, and more than that we will welcome your interest and help. It is your paper, and you are free to make it what you want. We hope you will.

After this apparent conglomeration of disconnected ideas, we want to clarify any confusion that might result. There will undoubtedly be enough of that this year without deliberately manufacturing more in this, the first issue of the CAMPUS.

We present this column and this paper to you in hopes that it will help you to make your own picture of Middlebury complete. We also want it to make you more tolerant of the conditions and opinions that will inevitably annoy you. Never has there been such a wide variety of tastes, interests, and opinions collected together on this campus. This promises to be a difficult year. Let us hope it will also be a good one.

Rhodes Candidates Again Have Chance To Win Scholarship

Oxford Plans to Change Specifications for Ex-G.I.'s

Applications for Rhodes Scholarships due November 2, are again being accepted this year, for the first time since 1939, and candidates will be elected in December to enter the Uuniversity of Oxford in October, 1947.

Requirements for Election

Regularly, candidates must be between the ages of 19 and 25. However, men who would have been eligible in any year since 1939 will be allowed to compete, providing they have had at least one year of military or civilian war service. Regular candidates must be between 19 and 25 on October 1, 1947, but war service candidates may be between 19 and 32, and for the latter the usual bar against marriage has been lifted.

Veterans attending Oxford on these scholarships will receive benefits under the GI Bill of Rights equivalent to those they would receive in an American university.

Ordinarily, candidates are required to have two complete years of college training at the time of application, but in the case of service men, this has been lowered to one year. Rhodes Scholars are appointed for two years in the first instance, with a possibility of a third year for a man who has made a good record. There is no restriction on a Rhodes Scholar's course of study.

Personal Qualities of Applicants

Mr. Rhodes specified in his will certain qualities which should form the basis of selection: (1) literary and scholastic ability and attainments; (2) qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindliness, unselfishness, and fellowship; (3) exhibition of moral force

New Social Director Relates Experiences In Red Cross Work

Anita M. Liptak '49

Although a native Montanan, Miss Elizabeth W. Baker, Social Director, Freshman class advisor, and House Director of Forest Hall, has returned to Vermont, the home of her forefathers.

Miss Baker's father was born in St. Albans, and she herself is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke college. She is definitely no stranger to New England, nor is she a stranger to college men and women, especially veterans. This, she says, may be due to her three years in the Red Cross where she came into daily contact with servicemen.

Begins in Australia

Her career in the Red Cross began when she was sent to Australia in charge of a hospital unit. She was one of about 25 women who lived in a cramped hut in the jungle. After this came the opportunity of requesting her next post. This chance began a long series of dramatic coincidences which led to one of the most happy incidents of her life. Her brother had been listed as missing over two years previous to this time, and although it seemed likely that he was dead, she kept hoping and looking for him. As she had heard General MacArthur's order that all recovered prisoners in the Pacific theater were to be cleared through Manila she asked to be transferred there.

At Manila, she was put in charge of communications for recovered prisoners. Immediately upon her arrival, she began the long job of searching lists of recoverd personnel. After several months in Manila, word came through that the last group of recovered soldiers was coming through. She searched the list with a sinking heart, but there was no Sergeant Baker.

Unforgetable Moment

At that point, two soldiers walked into her office and did her the greatest favor of her life. After they had completed their business, they departed to go back to the recovered prisoners depot, and since she was going part of the way, she gave them a lift. The two men inquired if there was anything they could do for her. She explained aabout her brother and asked if they could get some details of his death, for she could not enter the depot. Upon returning to the depot, they

Edgar Park, President Emeritus of Wheaton college, Norton, Mass., is one of the youngest men in the country to head an educational institution of the stature of Northfield. The Northfield organization is comprised of the Northfield School for Girls and the Mt. Hermon School for Boys.

Frosh Shown Middlebury's Social Cente

Jo Buck

Midd rolls into its 147th year with largest enrollment in history and perh the most heterogeneous group since college's inception. And so the CAM will attempt to cater to all tastes, hopes you will not withhold comment you all aren't just tickled pink with ev issue.

Entertainment Galore

Because so many of you are new, probably overcome by the galaxy of tertainment spots, we thought maybe w paraphrase the "study schedule" sche with a "social schedule." Now before are carried away by the mad whirl of cial life, it's only fair to warn you t Middlebury is a large town, and if haven't been here before, it would be w to have an upperclassman accompany for the first few times you investigate t town. Many's the Freshman lost betwi the Grey Shop and Cappy's.

The Big City

And here we are, being drawn towa the twinkling lights of the social cente How to choose between all these potenti sources of merriment? Probably you a bit fatigued after a good 10 hours study ing, so the cinema presents itself as a re laxing way to spend the evening. Al you must make another decision—alwa a decision. For there is not one, but tw (2) theatres in Middlebury, and each re nowned for its own inimitable qualities Being impartial, we can only note that th Campus is nearer, but the Town Hall jus exudes "atmosphere."

Now that you've seen the show, and a just chock full of vitality, how about "cozy corner," where you can talk ov old times, or for those more intellectuall inclined, the pro's and con's of the st unsolved question, "Are clams happy? There is such a choice of eating rende vous' that I daren't make a statement however, it would seem advisable to men tion that only Calvi's and the Diner ar open "late" at night.

Although we know how hard it is keep all these places straight, it is onl just to refer to several other main realm of relaxation. Dancing is featured at th Inn Thursday nights, and at the gym o Saturday nights. Rec rooms do well fo that "quiet evening at home" that is much a part of an integrated college life Of course, there are innumerable outdoo activities, and endless country roads t explore.

We hope that these suggestions hav introduced you to social life on the hil and perhaps shown that it can be as ex thralling as your courses.

BILLBOARD

Take your pick, the new coaches, the new trainer, the new football team, the new ti development, the new golf course, or the new batch of co-eds. The topics are all teresting and could fill a book. Some of the aforementioned subjects will be found this page—others, well, you'll just have to find out for yourself.

Nevertheless, take a look around the campus and you'll see what I mean. Walking round Main Street on one of these balmy autumn afternoons you can't help but notice he fraternity houses. And, if you should peep inside, you'll see that the Greeks have hanged things. No longer do co-eds run barefooted on the carpeted halls, nor are the llas not allowed above the 1st floor—things have changed and I'm sure that everyne is satisfied. The Dew Club has a new coat of paint, the Deke house has the touch f K. Moore and Co. decorating firm and the boys at the ranch are sporting new furshings. In fact, gang, all of the houses are in tip-top shape; of course many of the borate plans had to be junked, because of the old adage, "You simply can't get the bor or materials." Just give the boys another two weeks, though, and you'll see hat I mean.

If you could have been here this summer you'd have obtained quite another perpective of the same picture. Language schools were running full blast, and there's rumor around that some of the fellas went to a "regular" summer school, but after tensive investigation I'm afraid that the profs said they weren't quite sure whether was classes they were teaching, or if it wasn't just a daily visit to their campus ffices.

One group did suffer these past few months and once again that illustrious clan—he Benedicts lost some of their weaker brothers. Congratulations are in order to Woody" Garrigus, Glenn Remington, Brick Upham, Walt Lillyman, Ed Adams and our furniture man, "Chippin'" Charlie Scott. Should have some good bridge parties is year.

As one of the frosh said, "I'd get married too, if I could find an apartment and a b for my bride."

That's the way it goes.

And of course you've noticed how crowded everything is this year. That is, everying but the football team—seems that some would rather play that bruising game of ass touch than make use of their ability where it really counts. One consolation, ough, a few of the organizations—too numerous to mention—will, or rather should, ave bang-up "touch 'em" outfits.

Duke started the ball rolling though, on September 9th, when camp opened. Though sults weren't as good as anticipated, still, those pre-season drills did more toward veloping a winning eleven, than did any other period of practice.

Midd has some boys that are bigger and faster than most of us have had the pleasure seeing, since our entrance to the Vermont countryside. But remember this, so have e teams that are on our schedule! Any commitment as to the number of wins will t be ventured by this column, that is, not just now.

As far as Williams is concerned, the Blue and White takes the field for the 24th me this Saturday and Duke's charges will be out after that 6th victory. That means r percentage with the Ephmen isn't, as the New Yorker would put it, "Abounding"—t browse through the records and you'll see how close the majority of those losses ere, a difference of just one point in a number of cases.

"Hoop" Snively is not pegged to lead the Williams aggregation to a Little Three le this year, so the dopsters predict, but he is counted on to field the same type of ll club that the Purple and Gold has had in the past, and that means heads-up footll. Not to be construed with "head up and locked."

Sam Guarnaccia's jayvees are of untested quality, but knowing Sam and his tactics, team that Midd can well be proud of will square away on the 11th of this month, for eir first tussle.

Handball will necessarily be curtailed until Thanksgiving time, for as some of you ve no doubt discovered, the courts are now lined with lockers and racks for the footll squad.

Intramural golf has been postponed until Spring, to give the new greens, that were nstructed and seeded this summer, a chance. Both the individual and the team title ents will be played when the snow has gone.

By this time we all realize that this season is going to be the biggest in the history organized football. Never before have coaches greeted squads loaded with so many rmer stars, both collegiate and service caliber. This will be the greatest array of ent ever assembled.

Your columnist won't venture a guess just yet on Midd's chances, but he will stick t his neck on several other teams and their possibilities.

To many of us the East once again presents the liveliest brand of football. After , don't we have the Army, one of the greatest teams of all times? Yes, and we've more than that—regardless of those Irish from South Bend. Last week-end was supreme test for the Kadets, as they played against a huge Oklahoma Sooner outwithout the famed "Mr. Inside," the bruising Doc Blanchard. Though the Army ward wall was outcharged and Glen Davis caught fumbleitis for a while, the boys gray under the capable leadership of unheralded Arnold Tucker, "Ug" Fuson and nk Foldberg, came through in the last half to rightly prove their claim as national mpions.

Blanchard will be back this week.

But how Blaik could use "Tex" Coulter, who couldn't be stopped on the gridiron, could in the math dep't, and Shorty "Make a Million" McWilliams, who resigned m the Point for obvious reasons!

Jumping around the East, our next stop is the Ivy League, where the Yale gang holed out as favorites—mainly due to a veteran line and the addition of Levi kson, colored flash from New Haven. Penn gets the nod for runner-up honors, h such stalwarts as Savitsky and Dickerson in the line and Hod Allen in the back d. Dartmouth will develop through the season and should be given consideration.

And don't forget the Big Red from Cornell, who will be tested this week by those ashers from below Poughkeepsie. Round this section out with Columbia and Navy you have the complete picture.

Notre Dame, by virtue of a gang of ringers, a large expense account and a whale a good publicity department naturally came out on top in the Mid-West selections. don't let the color green mar your vision, for the Buckeyes and Wolverines are nd and determined to steal the show. I had the opportunity to watch Michigan ort around in practice the early part of last month—and with five former captains 39 lettermen in the fold, there's bound to be a noise from the Ann Arbor district. t Michigan-Army contest next week can easily be one of the Big Three games he year.

There's a toss-up between a number of teams for the best in the South, whereas the theast shows two bowl contenders—Alabama and Georgia—and two All-Americans larry Gilmer of 'Bama and Charlie Trippi of the Crackers.

Texas is the powerhouse of the Southwest without a doubt, but should have a real le when they tackle Oklahoma A. and M., big six favorites, with Bob Fenimore, 5 All-American, in the backfield.

Southern Cal without a doubt on the Pacific Coast, with that same team in the e Bowl on New Year's Day. Upsets in this section are expected weekly and the ers are wary of such teams as St. Mary's and the U. of Oregon.

Interesting game in the Potao League last weekend was St. Lawrence's victory over Unionmen. The Larries pushed over two TD's for a 14-0 win.

Remember gang, that Williams stadium can hold us all, so let's go! ! WOLF.

"Doc" Farrell Midd Trainer Dies, Aged 58

Alan Wolfley '47

After an illness of four days, death closed the long and varied career of Middlebury's athletic trainer, George "Doc" Farrell, who was honored and immortalized by several generations of Middlebury athletes, on August 21, 1946.

Typical "Doc"

It came as a shock to those of us who were in Middlebury this summer, to hear of Doc's illness and later of his passing. Would it be possible to conduct an athletic season without our beloved trainer? Deep down we know it would be done, but it just didn't seem right, for until the very last George was asking for his white "ducks" and his white shoes, so that he could get that famous trainer's room in order when "his" boys came back for football camp on September 9.

To many who didn't know how old Doc happened to be, it seemed as though he'd been here forever. For it made no difference whether the athlete was a recent graduate or from the class of '25, George knew them all, and one of the first stops on any alumni's itinerary was the gym, where the ache-master held sway. There you were welcomed by the Doctor to renew past experiences and hear his many pearls of wisdom.

Doc's Record

The record books reveal that George Edward Farrell was born at Leicester Junction on November 27, 1887. He was the son of William and Ellen Farrell of that community. Doc married the late Angeline Dansro in 1910, and they were the parents of five children, one of whom, George E. Farrell, Jr., is a graduate of this college.

Tennis Tourney Will Determine College Champ

Entrants in the 1946 Men's College Tennis Tournament square off for a gold medal offered the survivor of the elimination tilts which will be posted on bulletin boards tomorrow morning.

This year's tourney, a renewal of the event begun in 1938, will be run off with three-set series in the opening play and five set contests in the semi-final and finalist pairings.

In addition to the medal denoting school championship for the winner, finalists will also score a graded number of points for whichever organization they represent in the race for intra-mural honors.

Because eligibility rules included all enrolled men students, the athletic department is hopeful that the sign-up list will send a large number of pellet-choppers into the competition.

V. Pitre Takes Job Of Athletic Trainer

Larzer Ziff

Vincent Pitre moves into the job of athletic trainer at Midd with all of the qualifications of the job and then some. The man who will patch 'em up and send 'em out is here straight from Bellevue Hospital, New York, where, among other achievements, he set up the first oxygentherapy unit in the east. "Pete" trained for his graduate nursing certificate at Bellevue for two years, and when he received the degree remained at the hospital for three years serving in various capacities in both the research and practical aspects of his profession.

A native of Seymour, Conn., the wiry little man graduated from high school in his home town and attended the University of Connecticut for two years before transferring to Bellevue. He is married and has a daughter who will be five next month. Trainer Pitre replaces the late Doc Farrell who had become a Middlebury tradition, and as they say in show business, the vociferous Doc will be a "hard act to follow."

Midd's '46 Football Squad Outlined by Coach Nelson

Potential Panthers

Ken Moore

The lid comes off the intramural sports season this week and all the Alphas, Betas and Iotas will have their eye on the trophy of trophies and on the new cup given by the Chi Psis, in memory of Tom Macdonald and "Red" Ericson, former Intramural managers. This new Intramural trophy will be awarded to the house with the greatest number of Intramural sports points. The older Trophy of Trophies is awarded to the house with the largest group total of intramural points, plus varsity lettermen counters.

Seems Like Old Times

This is the year—the return to normal—"It Seems Like Old Times." It could almost be set to music. Men will be 20 years older than some of their classmates, and the lack of ligaments will soon be apparent when touch football starts this week. It will be new for some of us, but we can all profit by real competition if everyone tries to take part in some sport whether it be varsity or intramural.

Three years ago I wrote a letter and addressed it simply King of the Gym, Middlebury College and a month later a reply came back. Now, when most of the fellows return and walk into the gym, in their minds they see the "Old Doc" sloped back in his chair with his feet on the desk. He always had a short, hand-rolled cigarette which often fell out during a needed nap, burning several small, brown holes in his white shirt. "Doc" Farrell will be remembered as he watched his boys on Porter Field or as he told each freshman class. "And I thought last year's class was a low tide. This is the end."

Touch Football

Touch football material is plentiful this year and rumor has it that the Ranch House boys are loaded with passes. With Eddie Adams calling signals it will be a battle of brains when the K.D.R.'s meet the Sig Ep's, led by John McGarry (both formerly of the class of '45). "The Bull" is whipping the Chipsies into shape for their initial game with the Dekes. Playing coach, "Crash" Hawley is using the T with the Sig Alph squad, and "Slow Gin" Fuchs has been trying the inverted Q. Drop down to any of these games for an afternoon's relaxation, and you'll see a really wide open game of touch ball.

Coach Discusses Chances of Midd In Cross-Country

A superficial glance at the roster of the cross-country team may enthuse an avid Midd rooter but a talk with Coach Brown will soon tone down the enthusiasm. For while 12 of the 24 boys out for the sport of puff and pant are cross-country veterans, advance reports indicate that they have lost their edge considerably and will have to work hard to be in shape for the opener on October 19.

The harriers face a five-meet schedule and will definitely be traveling in fast company. Coach Brown has indicated that his seven-man starting team will most likely be drawn from the following experienced runners: George Hartz, Hal Parker, Bob Mason, Will Bangs, Art Goodrich, Paul Vyrros, Dave Stebbins, Pete McKee, Jimmy Gilbert, and Ted Geiken. The distance is four and a half miles and the Coach says he'll welcome any new candidates who feel they can fill the bill.

Home meets are: Amherst, October 19; Bates, October 24, and those away are: Wesleyan, October 31; Union, November 9, and Vermont, November 15.

Duke Has Hopes Of Winning Team Despite All Odds

Walter T. Savage '49

Coach Walter "Duke" Nelson took time out from skull-work, line-up revision, telephone calls and a host of various details which to all football coaches means the first game is close at hand and had this to say to your reporter yesterday.

"You can say for me that our club lacks experience, age, a few pounds here and there and reserve depth in several spots. We're young, we've got a lot of fellows like Meeker, Cook, Johnson, Lindeman, Homkey, Wilson, Hamre and Karney who are under 21. Several of them are 17. We've had some damaging injuries; fellows like Zaumzeil and Mulligan, fullbacks, Ellis at right half and Karney, Thompson and Mocas from the line are all nursing kinks. Pepin is a doubtful starter at left end because he's recovering from tonsilitis. We've got that to contend with, and we really could have used a lot more working out. Less than 20 men on our squad have more than three weeks of drilling. We've got to work hard now. And another thing, too few men have had actual varsity experience. I'm stressing that—we're inexperienced."

The Duke looked down at his red-pencilled roster and thought for a moment. He's been thinking a lot about Williams, a fact which probably explains the absence of brash, bustling optimism in his remarks. If he was looking back there was little comfort in the Midd-Williams record.

Midd-Williams Record

In the 22 contests spanning the years since 1906 Williamstown elevens have been none too considerate in their treatment of Middlebury. Only four times, in '09, '21, '32 and '39 have Midd squads blunted the Ephmen's assaults. A grand total of the results is anything but encouraging: Wins, Williams, 18, Middlebury 4; Points: Williams 477, Middlebury 95. The Duke pushed aside the papers and continued:

"We have to figure on a few breaks like that. The team needs a few games under its belt to hit its real stride. We've some hard ones coming up—no doubt about that. Like us, Williams is pretty much an untested team, but they looked pretty capable against the Harvard J. Vs a week or so ago.

Assistant Coach Richard Ciccolella reminded the Duke that Union and St. Lawrence displayed a number of strong spots in the game they scouted.

"Unknown Quantity"

"Yes," added Nelson, "I'd like to meet them right now. They haven't quite gotten under way yet and will be a lot more troublesome later on. Then again, so will we—all of us will keep getting better. We aren't saying much right now. Put it in whatever words you like, but at the moment we're sort of an unknown quantity. We've got our difficulties. I could use a big, fast tackle in reserve—a bit more speed in a couple of positions—but," and he slapped his palm on the desk to emphasize a return to the cold facts, "the boys have an awful lot of spirit. They've shown scrap and enthusiasm all the way. They're working very, very hard, and they're working to win!"

(Concluded on page 6)

Cheerleaders' Debut To Be This Saturday

A cheerleading squad of six girls and two boys will make their first appearance at the football game with Williams college on October 5. This squad will appear at all the home games and as many of the away games as possible.

Members of the squad, which includes C. Milton Pike '47, Joseph H. Mann '47, Laura-Lee Hopkins '47, Virginia M. Knudson '48, Jean G. Huey '48, Kaye I. Sturges '48, Marilyn Crawford '49, and M. Cornelia Higley '49, practice on the board track every day. Tryouts are now being held to select four more men for the squad.

Honorary Degree Granted to Bonnet

Doctor of Laws Bestowed Upon French Ambassador

An honorary Doctor of Laws degree was conferred to Henry Bonnet, Ambassador of the French Provisional Government to the United States, by President Samuel S. Stratton on August 8, 1946.

Ambassador Speaks

Following the presentation of the degree, Ambassador Bonnet delivered an address in which he pointed out the task of educators in the world today. This task is to build barriers against wars by educating the world to the fact that the time is past when armed conflict is the business of professional armies, and that the daily life of everyone is at the mercy of the organized status of the world.

Address in French

The French ambassador's address, delivered in his native tongue before a capacity audience of language school students in Mead Chapel, emphasized that today millions of people are longing for the joy of work in a world free from fear. "However," he said, "no matter how deep and sincere this feeling may be, it is not sufficient. There must also exist the fullest mutual understanding between the peoples of the world, and this understanding must be founded on a knowledge and on a just appreciation of the problems which modern society has to face. Only on this basis can that confidence which is still lacking in international relations be developed."

Ambassador

Ambassador Bonnet's visit was in honor of Andre Morige, who retired as director of the French summer school after 21 years of service.

Ciccolella Chosen To Help Nelson Coach Baseball

Dick Ciccolella, former Manhattan college football player, and baseball and football coach of Christian Brothers academy, Albany, N. Y., has been appointed assistant varsity football and varsity baseball coach at Middlebury College, according to an announcement made by President Samuel S. Stratton.

The new basketball mentor, who was recently discharged from the Army Air Forces after four years of duty, will also assist Coach Walter "Duke" Nelson on the Panther gridiron this fall. During his reign as football coach at Christian Brothers Academy, his teams won five district championships and went through the 1936 season undefeated. He also won four district championships with his Academy baseball teams, while his basketball quintets captured district honors twice.

Ciccolella played varsity football for Manhattan from 1931 to 1933 and was designated an All-Metropolitan guard in the New York City area during these three years. Besides his football activities at Manhattan, he played on the varsity basketball team and was a member of the quintet that had an undefeated season in 1933.

NOTICES

Mr. William Hearne, the new manager of the Middlebury Inn, has announced that he wishes the students to feel cordially welcome to use the facilities of the Inn for any individual or group functions. He will be happy to discuss such arrangements with students at any time.

The Literary Club will meet Tuesday, October 8, in Munroe 102, at 4.30, to elect officers and plan the schedule for the coming year. All old members and any others who are interested are invited.

A series of five concerts will be presented during the current academic year at Middlebury College, Prof. H. Ward Bedford, Chairman of the College Concert-Lecture committee announced today. The concerts are: October 15, William Kappell, pianist; December 4, Paul Robeson, bass; January 16, General Platoff Cossack Chorus; March 11, Budapest String Quartet; and April 22, Vermont Symphony Orchestra.

Boston Globe Offers $1,000 Fellowships

The Boston Globe is offering ten $1,000 fellowships to undergraduates of New England colleges for the purpose of travel and study for one year in the Western Hemisphere, outside of the United States.

Requirements

These World War II Memorial Fellowships will be open to eligible applicants during the first two weeks in October. Men and women may compete for the fellowships with the fulfillment of four requirements. They must be American citizens, have parental permission to accept the fellowship, have the approval of their college on the plan for using the funds, and have no close relatives who are employed by the Boston Globe.

To apply for these fellowships, registered undergraduates must send to the Fellowship Committee the coupon which will be printed in the editorial section of the Sunday Boston Globe both October 6 and 13. Selection of the winners will take place during the fall and winter and the winners will receive their fellowship awards after the completion of the 1946-47 college year.

Procedure

Although these fellowships were first opened in the spring, students applying this October will be considered on the same basis as those who applied earlier in the year. After the coupon is submitted, the applicant will receive an information blank to fill out. Subsequently, he will be interviewed by a member of the Globe Fellowship Committee and then, if chosen for a finalist, he will be interviewed by three persons appointed by the Committee.

Basis of Awards

Alaska, Canada, the Hawaiian Islands, Mexico, the Caribbean Islands, Central and South America are included as parts of the Western Hemisphere where winners may choose to travel. Final awards will not be given solely on an academic basis, but the selections will be made for those students whose plans for the year are most constructive and unusual, and for those whom the judges feel will best represent New England and the United States in these foreign countries.

Posted Bulletins Replace Notices

Because of the two sections of daily chapel this year, notices will be posted daily as the bulletin Daily Notices. Copies will be distributed each morning to the first floor bulletin board in Munroe, and to all the other halls and dormitories. The following regulations for publication were printed in the first copy of Daily Notices:

1. All notices should be deposited in one of the three boxes provided. (One located outside of the bookstore door in Recitation Hall, another on the wall outside the Publications Office in Old Chapel, and the third for the faculty under the Bulletin Board in Munroe) before 8.30 a.m. of the day that it is to be published.

2. All notices must be dated and signed in writing with the title of the signee.

3. Each notice should contain the Time, Place, and Subject, in as brief a form as possible.

4. If a notice is to apply to some future date, other than the date of printing, specify the date by mentioning the day and the date (i.e., Monday October 30). Do not submit a notice several days in succession as has been done previously in advertising for a dance or special event.

5. All notices must be typewritten, or printed to assist in the layout of the stencil.

athletic domain for some 22 years and was one of the few college trainers who rightfully wore the varsity letter of his alma mater. This award was presented to Doc at the culmination of the 1933 football season.

So the good Doc has passed on; his death will be mourned wherever Middlebury alums reside. But the spirit that George Farrell instilled in the athletics of this college will be gratefully remembered by all who were fortunate enough to know him.

20 New Professors Join Midd Faculty

bury in 1941, and his Ph.D. from the University of Virginia this September. From 1943 until June, 1945, he taught bio-chemistry and general chemistry to the V-12 unit here on campus. After Dr. Harnest left Middlebury, he did antimalarial research work at the University of Virginia.

Lawrence B. Leighton

Mr. Leighton, Assistant Professor of Classics at Middlebury from 1944 to 1945, has returned to us this year from teaching history at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. He received his A.B. from Bowdoin in 1925, attended Trinity College, Oxford, England, from 1925-1928, and received his M.A. from Harvard in 1933. Mr. Leighton is now Assistant Professor of Contemporary Civilization.

Howard M. Munford

Another returned serviceman, now Assistant Professor of American Literature and American History, is Howard M. Munford. He received his B.S. from Middlebury in 1934 and his M.A. from the Breadloaf School of English in 1939. Having done three years graduate work at Harvard, Mr. Munford is now completing work on his Ph.D. dissertation for that university. He was an instructor of American Literature in Middlebury from 1941 till 1943, when he left to join the Navy. As an Air Combat Intelligence Officer on a Carrier Based Squadron, Lieut. Munford went through the Okinawa campaign and entered Japan among the first forces.

William F. Madden

Mr. Madden entered the service in 1942 after teaching psychology at Middlebury for two years. He received his B.S. from Ohio University in 1936 and his M.A. from Syracuse in 1940. A lieutenant, he was an aviation psychologist stationed for a time at the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board in Boston. Only 70 men throughout the country were in that particular branch of the Navy, testing and handling flight failures and demonstrating night vision. At present Mr. Madden is an Assistant Professor of Psychology.

Forum to Launch Annual Campaign For Membership

Forum opens its 1946-1947 program with a membership drive, the week of Monday, October 7 to Friday, October 11.

Dormitory representatives will canvas the women's dormitories at which time new members may sign up for the various activities, including Thrift Shop, Crafts in Middlebury and Ripton, Hospital work, Dancing class, Story Hour, work with families, Piano lessons, Hostess work, Thanksgiving boxes, and Christmas parties.

Miss Olive Dean, former director of the Community House, is on a six-month vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Wiley, who have been active in U.S.O. work the past three years, are taking Miss Dean's place. Because the Community House is being redecorated, the freshman tea will not be held and community work will not start until after the membership drive.

Officers this year are Edith M. Gordon '47, president; Elaine Phillippi '48, vice-president; Jeanne Epp '48, secretary, and Dorcas Neal '49, treasurer.

Baker Describes Foreign Service

put a note on the bulletin board requesting Sergeant Baker to call her at Staff Headquarters. Two hours later she was talking to her brother on the phone. It seemed he had entered the depot only for a moment and had seen her message. The moment was an unforgettable one for both.

Returns Home

Miss Baker did not return home until January 15, four months after the end of the war. She remained in Montana until she received her appointment to Middlebury. At her own desire, she flew here to see the college and talk to Mrs. Woodward so she "knew what she was buying before she bought it."

In answer to the inevitable question, "How do you like Midd?" she answered, "I love it." She commented especially on the campus, the mountains, Forest, and "the type of student that comes to Middlebury, if you can type students." Her work is the type of thing she likes best to do, and she is certain she will be very happy here.

Duke Interviewed On Football Squad

A slow, sure smile lit up Dick Ciccolella's face as the Duke finished, and he nodded his head quickly.

One remembered the words Duke Nelson used when he came back to Middlebury last spring:

"A team that wants to win, fights to win, works to win, will win."

This Saturday afternoon at 2.30 in Williamstown a generally young and inexperienced Middlebury team, traditionally the underdog against Williams, will be set to baggle for that extra little something to prove the merit of those words.

The first-string "Panther" roll at kick-off wi[11], no doubt, read something like this:

LE—Pepin or Kailey.
LT—Wilson or Cook.
LG—Kinsey or Monaco.
RG—Hamre or Johnson.
RT—Lindeman or Homkey.
RE—Meeker or Guglin.
C—Puksta or Rauner.
QB—Barquin or Dineen.
LHB—Masters or Mulcahy.
RHB—Corbisiero or Ellis.
FB—McNamara or Zaumseil.

Memorial Drive Opens October 12 expects 100 per cent student cooperation both on and off campus, and that there is considerable interest showing already.

Speech Recorded

President Samuel S. Stratton will make every attempt to speak to all groups active in the campaign. However, when a group is located too far away to make a visit practical, a recording of a speech by Dr. Stratton will be sent in his stead. On the other side of the record is a piano rendition of several Middlebury songs by Mrs. E. P. Wiley '12. The recording was made by Mr. William Hazlett Upson, author of the famous Alexander Botts stories frequently published in The Saturday Evening Post.

Several dinners are also planned among which three have already been scheduled in Boston, Hartford, and New York. Others are planned in other Middlebury population centers throughout the Northeast.

MIDD PRESENTED WITH $25,000 FUND FOR FELLOWSHIP

A bequest of $25,000 was left to Middlebury College to establish the Arthur Gould Tasheira Fund, when Mrs. Helen G. Tasheira of Oakland, Calif., died recently.

This fund will provide scholarships for "worthy and deserving students." Mr. and Mrs. Tasheira were former residents of Vermont and life-time friends of the college. When they moved to California several years ago, they gave their property to the college, and upon the death of Mr. Tasheira, a large portion of his library was donated to Egbert Starr Library.

Hall in the evening. Mortar Board members and organization heads described the activities of groups with which they are affiliated.

The Freshman Outing, sponsored by the Mountain club, began at 3.30 p.m., Wednesday, when the new students assembled on the Women's Athletic Field. A scavenger hunt and games were featured, followed by refreshments.

Midd Night

Middlebury movies, in technicolor, were presented in the Playhouse at 7.30 p.m. Friday evening, after which the freshmen participated in informal renditions of college songs. Among the events shown in the movies were colorful scenes of graduation, sugaring off, and the '45 Carnival.

The week of campus orientation was concluded on Saturday night at the High school gym with the traditional Midd Night ceremony. Skits were presented by the junior and sophomore classes under the auspices of the Student Union and the senior class entertained with both new and old class songs and parodies.

Robert Summers Assumes Dining Hall Management

Mr. Robert A. Summers of Boston, Mass., has been appointed manager of the college dining rooms, replacing Mr. James H. Howarth who recently resigned.

Mr. Summers is well-known in the field of hotel management. He served as a lieutenant in the navy during World War II and until the time of his appointment he was manager of the St. James Hotel in Woonsocket, R. I. He is a graduate of Cornell, attended Harvard University School of Business Administration, and prior to going to Woonsocket, R. I., was resident manager of the Charlesgate Hotel in Boston. He is a member of the New England Hotel Association, Rhode Island Hotel Association, Cornell Society of Hotelmen, Theta Delta Chi, and the U. S. Naval Reserve Officers' association.

ENTIRE FACULTY, STAFF AWARDED RAISES IN SALARY

On September 23, President Samuel S. Stratton announced salary increases for the entire faculty and staff of Middlebury College.

Full professors are to have a 16 per cent increase and other faculty and staff members are to be given a 12 per cent increase, all retroactive to July 1, and replacing a 10 per cent bonus which was announced last spring. These adjustments have increased the faculty salary on the average of 25 per cent since September 1942. Increases for individuals for this same period of time range from 12 to over 50 per cent.
